Thoth & The Emerald Tablets: A Demon In Sheep's Clothing

Steven Bancarz

29-37 minutes

By Steven Bancarz | Thoth is arguably the most popular of all Egyptian gods, especially when it comes to modern occultism and the New Age movement. Thoth is depicted as being a bringing of knowledge and wisdom here to help us understand the mysteries of the universe and the self. Before we document that Thoth is a demon-god beyond a shadow of a doubt, let's take a brief look at his attributes according to Egyptian mythology.

Thoth is an Egyptian god of science, religion, philosophy, astrology, alchemy, and magic. Broadly speaking, he is most often understood as being the god of religion and the occult arts. He is also the judge of souls in the afterlife. He is even the supreme creator in some Egyptian myths. He is often depicted as having the head of a Ibis or a Baboon. He invented the rules of sacrifice and is the author of the Book of Thoth, which is a collection of magic spells and rituals so powerful that it had to be hidden away. In fact, according to mythology he taught the goddess of magic Isis everything she knows.

Thoth, this powerful god of magic, is credited with writing some of the spells in Egyptian Book of the Dead, and serves as the official scribe in the Hall of the Dead. Thoth has many different roles in Egyptian mythology, but his main claims to fame are that he is the primary god responsible for religious/spiritual knowledge and magic.

Hermes Trismegistus is a combination of the Greek god Hermes and the Egyptian god Thoth, and is a name that is sometimes used interchangeable with Thoth. Because of this, the two gods were worshipped as one in what had been the Temple of Thoth in Khemnu, which the Greeks called Hermopolis. In this article we are going to look at Thoth in his Egyptian form as he was known by them for hundreds if not thousands of years before Greek mythology arose, and will save the topics of Hermeticism and The Hermetica for another article. There will be some cross-over, however.

Now that we have a little background information, let's take a deeper look into Thoth to see if he is as benevolent as the New Age and occult make him out to be. First, let's look at his most popular writings in the Emerald Tablets.

The Emerald Tablets are a series of writings that were given to us by Thoth which were apparently written on a material created through an alchemical process. Nobody has seen all of these tablets. Only one exists in its original form, and the Emerald Tablets (as a textual body) are generally considered to be channeled material given to man by Thoth.

They talk about everything from ancient history, to alchemy, to metaphysics, with the main objective being to teach us about the “Mysteries” of the Universe so we may become unified with the “Light”. The Emerald Tablets act as a staple for those who wish to access higher consciousness and illuminate themselves with spiritual knowledge.

But upon closer inspection, these tablets actually depict the existence of fallen angels, Hell, and even Satan in ways that glorify them and are central to what they teach. They couldn't parallel the Biblical descriptions of the powers of darkness more closely if they tried.

Fallen Angels

In the first tablet, Thoth talks about a group of wise beings called the Children of Light:

“Wise were we with the wisdom of the Children of Light who dwelt among us. Strong were we with the power drawn from the eternal fire.” (Emerald Tablet I). Who are these Children of Light that get their power from the eternal fire?

According to the second emerald table, their story bears a striking similarity to the fallen angels as described in the Bible and the book of Enoch.

“Far in a past time, lost in the space-time, the Children of Light looked down on the world. See the children of men in their bondage, bound by the force that came from beyond. Knew they that only by freedom from bondage could man ever rise from the Earth to the Sun. Down they descended and created bodies, taking the semblance of men as their own” (Emerald Tablet II: The Hall of Amenti).

So these Children of Light made a descent down to earth and took on the appearance of man. In other words, they are not from this realm, but inhabited this realm for the purpose of teaching and instructing man, taking on bodies to do so. Let's look at story of the fallen angels descending to earth in the Book of Genesis 6: 1-5:

“When man began to multiply on the face of the land and daughters were born to them, the sons of God saw that the daughters of man were attractive. And they took as their wives any they chose... The Nephilim were on the earth in those days, and also afterward, when the sons of God came in to the daughters of man and they bore children to them”

“Sons of God” is a term used elsewhere in the Bible to refer to angels, and this passage communicates that these angels “saw” the daughters of man and took on flesh to reproduce with them, just as the Children of Light are said to “see the children of men” and took on their likeness. Jude 1:6 tells us of “the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation”, and 2 Peter 2:4 tells us God has not spared these angels who sinned by has kept them in chains in Hell.

It also sounds similar to the story of the fallen angels in the Book of 1 Enoch. While Enoch is not inspired Scripture, it does give us insight into how first century Jews and Christians understood why the world was so evil and where the magic arts had come from:

“And it came to pass when the children of men had multiplied that in those days were born unto them beautiful and comely daughters. And the angels, the children of the heaven, saw and lusted after them, and said to one another: ‘Come, let us choose us wives from among the children of men and beget us children.’

And Semjaza, who was their leader, said unto them: 'I fear ye will not indeed agree to do this deed, and I alone shall have to pay the penalty of a great sin.' And they all answered him and said: 'Let us all swear an oath, and all bind ourselves by mutual imprecations not to abandon this plan but to do this thing.' Then swore they all together and bound themselves by mutual imprecations upon it. And they were in all two hundred; who descended in the days of Jared on the summit of Mount Hermon, and they called it Mount Hermon, because they had sworn" (1 Enoch 6:1-7)

So the Bible tells us that the angels look down on human beings and fell to earth to fulfill lustful desires, and the Emerald Tablets tell us the "Children of Light" looked down on human beings and descended and took on human bodies.

Enoch goes on to tell us what the fallen angels taught mankind when they fell, which include magic, the philosophy of magic, enchantment, astrology, and so forth. Some of the same things the Emerald Tablets teach. In the very next line of the Emerald Tablet I, Thoth says "And of all these, greatest among the children of men was my father, THOTME, keeper of the great temple, link between the Children of Light who dwelt within the temple and the races of men who inhabited the ten islands".

Here we clear distinction between the Children of Light, fueled by the eternal fire, and the "races of men". In other words, these beings are not part of the races of men, by descended to the races of men and took on physical bodies. They apparently descended from the "space-time" and "ether" according to Emerald Tablet IV, which parallels how the Bible refers to the powers of darkness living within the “heavenly places” (Eph. 6:12) and Satan is said to rule from the “Kingdom of the air” (Eph 2:2). The lower heavens is the location in which spiritual warfare happens, and is where the powers of darkness currently dwell according to Scripture. This is the place that Thoth tells us these non-human Children of Light descended from to help teach man how to enlighten themselves.

These Children of Light (also referred to as the Brothers of Brightness) have the exact same story as the Great White Brotherhood (Ascended Masters), which I provided a strong case that they are demons in an earlier article. And they are spoken of as bringers of wisdom and teachers of the mysteries in the Emerald Tablets, and they have an uncanny resemblance to the stories of fallen angels in the Bible and the Book of Enoch.

Hell In The Emerald Tablets

These Children of Light not only mirror the story of the fallen angels, a rather obvious reference to Hell is made in terms of the Halls of Amenti (where Thoth lives):

“Deep in Earth’s heart lie the Halls of Amenti, far ‘neath the islands of sunken Atlantis, Halls of the Dead and halls of the living, bathed in the fire of the infinite ALL... Then grew in the great space before me, flame after flame, from the veil of the night. Uncounted millions leaped they before me, some flaming forth as flowers of fire.

Others there were that shed a dim radiance, flowing but faintly from out of the night. Some there were that faded swiftly; others that grew from a small spark of light. Each surrounded by its dim veil of darkness, yet flaming with light that could never be quenched.”

(Emerald Tablet II: Halls of Amenti)

So in the Halls of Amenti in the heart of the earth is the Halls of the Dead and Living filled with souls burning with flames. Hell is referred to in the Bible as being the down in the “nether parts of the earth” in Ezekiel 31:16. The Psalmist writes, “But those who seek to destroy my life shall go down into the depths of the earth;” (Ps 63:9). Ephesians 4:9 tells us Jesus descended “descended into the lower regions, the earth”, which some scholars believe to be a reference to the underworld after his death.

While it's not certain that Hell is literally in the center of the earth, the realm of the dead is associated with the lower regions of the earth at the very least. Hell itself is described as being a furnace of fire (Matt. 13:50), eternal fire (Matt. 18:8), fiery (Matt. 5:22), full of flames (Luke 16:24), unquenchable fire (Mark 9:43), and a lake of fire that burns with brimstone (Rev. 19:20, Rev. 20:10). Hell is described as being an eternal place of fire and the realm of the dead in the nether parts of the earth, and the Halls of Amenti is referred to as an eternal place of fire and the Hall of the Dead ‘far ‘neath the earth crust’.

This is where Thoth lives, according to the Emerald Tablets. Here are some more references to the Amenti being a place of eternal fire deep in the earth:

“Now for a time I go from among them into the dark halls of Amenti, deep in the halls of the Earth, before the Lords of the powers, face to face once again with the Dweller...Deep in Earth’s heart, the sons of Amenti heard, and hearing, directing the changing of the flower of fire that burns eternally, changing and shifting, using the LOGOS, until that great fire changed its direction” (Emerald Tablet I).

Within the first tablets explaining the history of Thoth, we have a very strong correlation to the stories of the fallen angels and a pit of fire filled with burning souls in the center of the earth. Satan often associated with the underworld in Scripture (as are demons). This is where the devil and his angels will be banished to eternal punishment. The Emerald Tablets tell us that the Halls of Amenti and the eternal fire is ruled over by one who sits on a throne.

Satan in the Emerald Tablets

It goes on to call Amenti “the underworld where the great king sits upon his throne” (Emerald Tablet I).

This is the highest authority in all of Amenti. He is the chief ruler in a sense. Who is this great king? It says more about the highest authority in Amenti in the second tablet:

“First and most mighty, sits the Veiled Presence, Lord of Lords, the infinite Nine, over the other from each the Lords of the Cycles”
(Emerald Tablet II).

This is a possible reference to Satan. Let's take the “infinite Nine” reference, for example. In Satanism, 9 is a number of Satan. Adding 666 together, you get 18. $1+8=9$. 9 is a 6 upside down, which comprises the Number of the Beast. Satanic Forces work in variables of nine, for example there are 9 epochs, 9 ages, and 9 Satanic statements in the Satanic Bible. In the Satanic Bible, the word “Nine” is always capitalized.

According to the book “Numbers: Their Occult Power and Mystic Virtues” by W. W. Wescott, nine holds great significance among many Masonic orders and secret societies. He said, “There is a Masonic order of Nine Elected Knights in which nine roses, nine lights, and nine knocks are used.” In fact the number nine is the number of “the earth under evil influences”. Satanist Aleister Crowley stated that 9 is “most evil, because of its stability” (777 & Other Qaballistic Writings Of Aleister Crowley, p.43}.

Why does Thoth call the King of Amenti the infinite Nine? Probably because this number means something to the dark occult. Other possible references to Satan in the Emerald Tablets including the phrases “Sun of the morning” which is what Lucifer is called in the Bible:

“How you are fallen from heaven, O Day Star, son of Dawn! How you are cut down to the ground, you who laid the nations low!” (Isa. 14:12)

We see this title sprinkled throughout the Emerald Tablets. “Lords of the World” is another term used to refer to spiritual powers in the Emerald Tablets. Jesus refers to Satan as being the ‘ruler of this world’ three separate times (John 12:31, 14:30, 16:11), and the Satanic Bible refers to Satan as the Lord of the Earth (pg 162).

This is a title given to Satan in both the Bible and the Satanic Bible.

Thoth has a few conversations with He of Nine, including the following while he was in the halls of Amenti:

“Then asked I of the Nine: O Lord, show me the path. Give the path to the wisdom. Show me the way to the WORD. Answered, me then, the LORD OF THE NINE: Through ORDER, ye shall find the way. Saw ye that the WORD came from Chaos? Saw ye not that LIGHT came from FIRE?” (Emerald Tablet IX).

So according to the Nine located far ‘neat the crust of the earth in the eternal fire, the Word and Light came from Chaos and Fire? The idea that chaos produces harmony is a reversal of the order of God. Chaos is the devil’s domain, and God is not the author of confusion or chaos (1 Cor. 14:33). And the idea that the fires of the lower regions of the earth could produce light is to say that light comes from darkness, which is physically and metaphysically impossible. As for the first half of this quote from the Nine, “Word” comes from the Greek word Logos meaning “wisdom”, a title given to Jesus multiple times in John 1, and God is said to be light in whom there is no darkness (1 John 1:5).

My Christian ears hear the Nine as saying, “The wisdom and light of God and Christ come from the chaos and fire of Hell.” Is it really a stretch to call this Satanic? It’s a reversal of the Bible’s classification of light coming from God and His domain only, and all things chaotic and of the lower fires being of the powers of darkness.

But the Emerald Tablets have to contain at least some wisdom, don't they? After all, what about all the references to Light, Wisdom, Truth, and the All-One?

Luciferian philosophy

In Satanism and all Luciferian philosophies, Lucifer is thought to be the bringer and bearer of Light. He is the one who teaches us spiritual liberation through enlightenment. In the Satanic Bible in particular, Lucifer is called the "bringer of light" and "the morning star". Man is bound under the rules and principles of Yahweh, and Lucifer came to liberate mankind from this bondage.

This could very well play into what we read earlier in Tablet I, where it says that the Children of Light saw "the children of men in their bondage, bound by the force that came from beyond." They descended to earth to free man through occult knowledge, just as Luciferians and Theistic Satanists teach.

As Satanist, Freemason, and founder of the Theosophical Society Helena Blavatsky said on page 539 of in Volume II her book The Secret Doctrine:

“Lucifer represents life, thought, progress, civilisation, liberty, independence. Lucifer is the Logos, the Serpent, the Saviour” and “It is Lucifer who is the God of our planet and the only God”, and she continues on page 243:

“In this case it is but natural — even from the dead letter standpoint — to view Satan, the Serpent of Genesis, as the real creator and benefactor, the Father of Spiritual mankind. For it is he who was the “Harbinger of Light,” bright radiant Lucifer, who opened the eyes of the automaton created by Jehovah, as alleged; and he who was the first to whisper: “in the day ye eat thereof ye shall be as Elohim, knowing good and evil” — can only be regarded in the light of a Saviour.”

Lucifer freed man from bondage to Yahweh, and the fallen angels did this through teaching them occult arts according to Enoch and Luciferian philosophy. The Children of Light freed man from bondage to the “force that came from beyond” through imparting to them this occult wisdom.

Below is a prayer Thoth tells us to pray in Emerald Tablet IV, which is a textbook Luciferian prayer:

“Mighty SPIRIT of LIGHT that shines through the Cosmos, draw my flame closer in harmony to thee. Lift up my fire from out of the darkness, magnet of fire that is One with the ALL. Lift up my soul, thou mighty and potent. Child of the Light, turn not away. Draw me in power to melt in thy furnace; One with all things and all things in One, fire of the life-strain and One with the Brain."

"Draw me in to melt in thy furnace". Is this a metaphorical furnace, or the furnace of the fires of Hell? I might have believed it's a metaphor before discovering the blatant references to an underground of eternal fire in nether parts of the earth ruled over by the Nine. Now let's compare this prayer of Tablet IV to a prayer within the Satanic Bible:

["O thou mighty light and burning flame of comfort!, that unveilest the glory of Satan to the center of the Earth; in whom the great secrets of truth have their abiding; that is called thy kingdom... Open the mysteries of your creation!" (The Satanic Bible, p. 264)

Sounds a little familiar. That's because for Luciferians and Satanists, enlightenment through forbidden knowledge is the ultimate goal. The basic Luciferian principles highlight "truth", freedom of will, and worship of the inner self. Through contemplation, occultic practices and prayers, magik, intellect, and understanding the Mysteries, you may ascending past the boundaries of materialism and beyond the boundaries of religious suppression and become God-like. Lucifer/Satan is thought to be the liberator of man and the holder of all mysteries and bearer of cosmic "light" that will awaken us to self-actualization as divine

The deeper your understanding of the Mysteries and the more time you dedicate to prayers, meditations, and rituals, the more god-like you will become until you reach unity with the "Light" and become immortal. This is the core essence of the teachings of the Emerald Tablets, and can be found in any Luciferian school of thought.

"Conclude us receivers of your mysteries; for why? Our Lord and Master is the All-One!" (The Satanic Bible, pg 186). With Luciferian philosophy and references to fallen angels, hell, and Satan present within the Emerald Tablets, we need to start questioning the real identity of Thoth. Let's take a deeper look into things:

Thoth in Modern Satanism

Not only do the Emerald Tablets glorify the fallen angels, Satan, Luciferianism, and Hell, Thoth is well-known within Satanism to be a demon-god. According to the Joy of Satan Ministries website

(which I won't be hyperlinking), Thoth is one of the most active demons and is a crowned prince in Hell:

“THOTH also known as “Hermes” [Greek], “Mercury” [Roman], “Tehuti,” “Ningishzidda,” and “Quetzalcoatl” [Central America].

- Zodiac Sign: Gemini- Cancer
- Tarot Card: 3 of Rods
- Planets: Mercury, Moon
- Candle Colors: Silver, Red
- Metal: Mercury
- Element: Air
- Rank: RECORDER OF SCRIPT AND LEGAL DOCUMENTS IN HELL; THE GRAND OFFICE

The above information was dictated from Thoth, personally.*

Thoth is a very high-ranking and important Demon. He is one of the 7 sons of Satan. He is the most brilliant and intellectual of the Gods. He is very likable, extremely charismatic, and friendly. He is the busiest of all of the Demons and it can be difficult to get him to appear in a summoning unless one is of importance to him”. This is coming from a High Priestess in the Church of Satan, who claims to have been in contact with Thoth personally.

The Necronomicon (The Book of the Practices of the Dead), and The Simon Necronomicon are perhaps the darkest Satanic black magik books ever written. They are known for driving people into madness and it warns the readers that powerful forces of darkness will be unleashed if it's not read in perfect sanity. I would post a picture of it here but I don't want the symbol of the book cover contained within this article.

In his introduction, Simon Necronomicon describes a being called AZAG-THOTH in the following words:

“Although a list is appended hereto containing various entities and concepts of Lovecraft, Crowley, and Sumeria cross-referenced, it will do to show how the Editor found relationships to be valid and even startling. AZATOT is frequently mentioned in the grim pages of the Cthulhu Mythos, and appears in the NECRONOMICON as AZAG-THOTH, a combination of two words, the first Sumerian and the second Coptic, which gives us a clue as to its identity. AZAG in Sumerian means “Enchanter” or “Magician”; THOTH in Coptic is the name given to the Egyptian God of Magick and Wisdom, TAHUTI, who was evoked by both the Golden Dawn and by Crowley himself (and known to the Greeks as Hermes, from whence we get “Hermetic”). AZAG-THOTH is, therefore, a Lord of Magicians, but of the “Black” magicians, or the sorcerers of the “Other Side”.

Asa (Aza) translates as “source” from ancient Egyptian, and Thoth is of course the Egyptian god. Ausaa-Thoth or Aasaa-Thoth is translated as “The source of Thoth” or “The intelligence of Thoth”. Azag-Thoth is referred to as being a Lord of Black magicians by the darkest book of spells and magik that we have available. This book was used as evidence in a Murder trial of Roderick Ferrel who tried to imitate a magic ritual in the book which involved human sacrifice to open the Gates of Ganzir (Hell).

Thoth is even mentioned with the Satanic Bible.

On page 144 of the Satanic Bible, it gives you a passage to recite to invoke demons from the Pit of Hell to come forth and manifest desires in your life. These “infernal spirits” are literal beings that Theistic Satanists invoke through ritual, prayer and magik. It proceeds to list of all the possible Infernal Names you can choose from, some being very well know demons. In that list on page 146 is Thoth, the Egyptian god of magic. Magic is something practiced by Satanists, sometimes involving blood rituals and the summoning of demons such as Thoth. They even liken the Egyptian god Set to Satan and worship him as such.

Satanist and the founder of the School of Theosophy, Helena Blavatsky, sums up Thoth as follows: “Hermes, the god of wisdom, called also Thoth, Tat, Set, and Sat-an; and that he was, furthermore, when viewed under his bad aspect, Typhon, the Egyptian Satan, who was also Set.” [Helena Petrovna Blavatsky, Isis Unveiled , Vol. I: Science, New York, Trow’s Printing and Bookbinding Company, 1877, p. 554, xxxiii.

Thoth is revered as a demon is modern Satanism.

Aleister Crowley, Thoth, & Magic

Someone obsessed with Egyptian magic was 33rd degree freemason and Satanist Aleister Crowley. He referred to himself as "The Beast 666" and once said "I was not content to just believe in Satan, I wanted to be his chief of staff". He was a famous occultist and magician who was heavily influenced by Thoth and Egyptian mythology. He openly admitted making blood sacrifice to demons, and said "For for nearly all purposes relating to magic, human sacrifice is the best."- Chapter 12 of Of The Bloody Sacrifice: And Matters Cognate.

He was contacted by a supernatural being called Aiwass while in Egypt that taught him "Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the Law", which became the core principle in his religion and philosophy called Thelema. Crowley went on to write 6 books pertaining to magik and became obsessed with ceremonial and Egyptian magik. And just like other Satanists and Luciferians (or those with such sympathies), he had a fascination with Thoth.

In fact, he wrote a book called "The Book of Thoth" which contains the Magik of Thoth and ancient Egypt. It also outlines the philosophy of his Thoth Tarot card deck that he created for divination. One technique of magik Crowley strongly recommended was banishing. Banishing is a technique used by magicians to rid the space of forces that might interfere with the magic that is being performed. As Crowley says in his book Magik, Book 4 (ch.13):

In the banishing ritual of the pentagram we not only command the demons to depart, but invoke the Archangels and their hosts to act as guardians of the Circle during our pre-occupation with the ceremony proper...It is usually sufficient to perform a general banishing, and to rely upon the aid of the guardians invoked. [...]

“The Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram” is the best to use.

The “Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram” is a magic ritual used by the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, which is an occultic sect based on the teachings of Hermes Trismegistus (Thoth). This ritual involves getting rid of spirits or “impure” forms of the elements from the magician’s circle by tracing Pentagrams in the air with a dagger, and by the power of certain Divine names followed by an invocation of spiritual forces to guard the Pentagram.

Why were magical practitioners of the teachings of Hermes under the impression that magic was best done by drawing Pentagrams and invoking spirits to protect it, when this symbol has been historically linked to Satanism and Thoth has been historically linked to Luciferian philosophy? Could it be because Thoth is in fact a demon, as The Satanic Bible outlines?

Thoth and Human Sacrifice

According to legend coming from channeled materials, Thoth started a colony in ancient Egypt at the beginning of Egyptian civilization after Atlantis sank after the fall of Atlantis roughly 10,000 years ago and was a high-priest there. This would mean that Thoth ruled over pre-dynastic and maybe even First Dynasty Egypt right at the start of their civilization. According to anthropologist Dr. Sasha Lessin, 3450 BC is when Thoth was ruler of Egypt. The only problem with this is that Thoth, the god of religion and ritual, ruled at the exact time when the Egyptians practiced human sacrifice.

According to an article published in National Geographic, human sacrifice is clearly demonstrated as existing during and before the First Dynasty by “retainers” (human servants) being buried near each pharaoh’s tomb so that they could go on into the afterlife to continue to serve the Pharaohs and royalty. And Thoth as the god of religion, rituals, and the high priest of Egypt, would have been overseeing this religious practice if this legend is true.

According to other legends of Thoth and an interview with Zecharia Sitchin, Thoth brought civilization to the Mayans and appeared to them in the form of Quetzalcoatl who was a feathered serpent that the Mayans made human sacrifices to. This means that Thoth would have been inspiring and overseeing human sacrifice, leaving them under the impression that he required blood in order to bestow favor upon them. The method of sacrifice for Quetzacoatl was to cut someone open while they were alive, pull out their heart, and offer it up.

Thoth also apparently helped start the Sumerian culture and was known to them as Ningishzida, a serpent god of the underworld.

Sir Leonard Woolley was an excavator of the famous ancient Mesopotamian city of Ur in Sumeria. There, among hundreds of tombs, he found 16 elaborate 'royal' tombs, all containing human sacrificial victims that were stacked on top of each other, with numbers as high as over 70 human skeletons in a single tomb.

These tombs were known as the "Great Death Pits" (seen in the picture above), and were sometimes filled completely with dead human bodies as you can see from Woolley's archaeological diagram of the pit on the right. What a strange coincidence, taking all things into consideration, that this god of religion and ritual who lives in the fire of the earth known to be a demon by Satanists helped establish three ancient cultures according to occult history, all of which ritually practiced human blood sacrifice for religious purposes.

I don't believe Thoth is anything more than a demon living in heavenly places (Eph. 6:12), or the lower heavens in Satan's air Kingdom (Eph. 2:2). He is no god, but he is an unembodied spirit doing his work from the lower heavenlies. But looking at the cultures occultists themselves tell us Thoth helped inspire and oversee as the god of religious ritual, we see a clear trail of blood throughout the ancient world.

Why didn't Thoth simply tell people to stop offering their children up to him, or stop killing each other to ensure company in the afterlife, if he is a god of religion and an authority in the underworld?

Thoth is not a fun, charismatic god of wisdom and magic

Contrary to how he is depicted in pop-culture and New Age teachings, Thoth is not some benevolent helpful Egyptian god here to teach us how to enlighten ourselves through secret wisdom and ritual. The Emerald tablets glorify fallen angels, and speak about Thoth living in the eternal fire in the center of the Earth in the Halls of Amenti ruled "He of Nine", which is a clear reference to Hell and Satan.

The Emerald Tablets are just about as Luciferian as it gets and are riddled with references the “eternal flames”, Satan, the “Masters” and contain demonic chants so mysterious that only God what demonic spirits they invoke. For example, in tablet X we see instructions from the Lords of Amenti:

“Hark ye, now man, this word I leave with thee. Use it and ye shall find power in its sound. Say ye the word: “ZIN-URU” and power ye shall find.

Or in tablet XII: “Call thou on me when thou dost need me. Use my name three times in a row: Chequetet, Arelich, Volmalites.”

But it’s no secret that Thoth is a demon. He is known as a high-ranking demon and is conjured up by Satanists and is mentioned by name in Satanic magic books. He is mentioned as a demon of Satan in the Satanic Bible, and the psuedo-Satanist Aliester Crowley dedicated a full book and tarot card deck to him.

Not to mention, the cultures he apparently helped start (according to legends passed around in the occult) all ritually practiced human sacrifice under his overseership. This is because Thoth, as a demon-god of ritual, magic, and the afterlife gains power from human sacrifice and ultimately wants all souls to be led into the Halls of Amenti in the eternal flames in the center of the earth. He is a demon who wants souls to be led to Hell, away from Christ, away from the God of Heaven and earth who dwells in unapproachable light.

I’ll let Thoth close off this article and make his departure back to the pit of darkness from which he came : “Now I depart from ye into darkness. Now go I to the Halls of Amenti”
